ARMADA

Boyd-Rittenhouse Wedding Rites

A very pretty wedding took place in Southminster United church, Lethbridge, August 16, when Ruth Alice Elizabeth, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyd and Richard Gordon Rittenhouse, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Rittenhouse of Hardisty, Alberta, exchanged wedding vows in a double wedding ring ceremony performed by Rev. King before an altar banked with gladioli and ferns. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor length gown of white bridal satin, the lace trimmed hemline was caught up in front with small bows of white satin ribbon. It featured a basque bodice. The neckline was of gathered folds and lace at the shoulders with a transparent yoke, small puffed sleeves. She wore elbow length gloves. Her finger tip length veil edged all around in rayon braid in fancy floral design was held in place by a halo of circular net which was pleated in a braided effect and dotted with simulated pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses with lily of the valley and green leaves of fern. Her only jewellery was three strands of pearls, gift of the groom.

As matron of honour, Mrs. Geo. Slowosky was gown in an orchid floor length gown of brocade sheer with a sash of white velvet, her shoulder length veil was held in place by a matching orchid halo of circular net in pleated effect. She wore a double strand of pearls and earrings to match and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations with fern. The bridesmaid was Miss Eileen Boyd, sister of the bride. She wore a floor length gown of yellow nylon sheer, flocked in white, featuring a basque bodice and a full skirt. The hemline in front was caught up with small bows of yellow satin ribbons showing four rows of lace. The neckline was of fold caught up with pearls about the shoulders with a transparent yoke. Her shoulder length veil edged in floral design was held in place by a circular net halo in pleated effect and dotted in simulated pearls. She also wore a double strand of pearls and carried a bouquet of apple blossoms, roses and fern.

Little Carol Wilson and Velda Boyd, niece of the groom and sister of the bride, were charming little flower girls carrying nosegays of sweet peas. Carol wore a floor length dress of pink nylon marquisette with a pleated neckline of blue, and a full skirt with a sash of pink and blue ribbon and a matching halo. Velda wore a pink nylon marquisette floor length dress. It featured a pleated square yoke neckline, outlined with ruffles and lace which extended to the waist line at the back. It had puff sleeves, a full skirt and a rose sash. She wore a halo of pink flowers. Each wore a string of pearls.

Mr. Leslie Rittenhouse, of Hardisty, brother of the groom was best man. Mr. Adam Scott, close friend of the bride and groom, was usher.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Boyd chose an afternoon dress of navy flocked organza with white accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias with lily of the valley.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Rittenhouse chose a suit of grey gabardine and wore a corsage of gardenias with lily of the valley.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the Lotus Inn Jade Room for thirty-one guests. The bride's table was decorated with gladioli and a two-tiered wedding cake. Mr. George Slowosky proposed the toast to the bride and groom, with the groom suitably responding. Following the toast, Mrs. W. Brotherhood sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart". Then all joined in singing "For They're a Jolly Good Couple".

For going away the bride changed to a sheer nylon flowered afternoon dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The happy couple left on a short honeymoon trip to Banff. On their return they will reside in Lethbridge.

Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. A. Rittenhouse, Hardisty; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boyd of Hardistyville; Mr. and Mrs. George Slowosky, Warden; Mr. and Mrs. W. Brotherhood of Lomond; Miss Dorothy Winch of Majorville; Mr. Bill Laing, Warden; Mr. Leslie Rittenhouse of Hardisty; Mr. and Mrs.

Ben and Joe Graham Believed To Be Canada's Oldest Identical Twins

Believed to be Canada's oldest identical twins, Ben Graham of Vulcan is shown here with some Canada's oldest identical twins—Ben Graham of Vulcan and Joe Graham of Calgary—celebrated their 90th birthdays last week, on Wednesday, Aug. 28.

This year they were unable to be together, as the Calgary twins still convalescing from a recent illness but, at Vulcan, Ben was receiving visitors in the afternoon and in the evening.

Born in 1862 at Sandy Hill, West Hawkesbury, Ont., Joseph and Benjamin Graham are the eighth and ninth members of the family of John Graham and Jean McKenzie who came to Canada in 1814 and are great-nephews of the Canadian explorer, Alexander McKenzie.

The parents of the twins were born in Scotland and moved to Ireland in 1812, then to Ontario in 1814. They had the name Joseph Benjamin for their eighth child if it was a boy, and when it turned out to be twin boys the name was split.

Following their schooling, Ben went lumbering in the Wisconsin woods and Joe took up carpentering, giving this up to join Ben in the woods. They later returned to Canada and, with their earnings, bought a farm in Ontario. In 1888 Joe married Alice Clara Bancroft and remained on the farm while Ben went to Montana. In 1903 Ben came north to Western Canada and after a short stay in Saskatchewan moved to Alberta and filed on a homestead a few miles north of the present town of Vulcan and it is on this original homestead where Ben still lives today.

That same year Ben married Catherine Jean McRae, who died in 1939. Their three children are Harry, who farms at Balzac; Mrs. Albert Markert (Dale), of Vulcan; and Russell, who farms the original homestead.

Joe came out to Vulcan in 1905, but, as he was still keeping up the farm in Ontario, was unable to stay the six months each year necessary to prove up a homestead. In 1915, however, he came west to stay and brought his wife, four sons and three daughters. He bought land just north of Vulcan and lived on the farm until 1928. In that year Joe and his wife retired and now live with a daughter, Mrs. Roy Dignam, at 402 - 11th St. N.W., Calgary. Two sons, Fred and Clifford, still farm at Vulcan; another son, Russell, returned to the Ontario farm, and the fourth son, Elmer, is a retired farmer at Kelowna. A second daughter lives at Kincaid, Sask., and the third daughter died.

The twins were both in excellent health until Joe's recent illness. Ben is still active and takes a keen interest in all the farm activities.

On Wednesday, August 27th, some 25 friends and relatives called at the Russel Graham home on the occasion of 90th birthday of Ben Graham of Vulcan and of Joe Graham of Calgary, formerly of Vulcan.

Believed to be the oldest living twins in Canada, the two old gentlemen, both in very good health, greeted their old and new neighbors.

Among those who called to offer their congratulations were the Elves brothers, Fred, Rube and Herb, now all of Calgary, whose homesteads adjoined the Ben Graham homestead in the early 1900's. The Elves motored from Calgary for the express purpose of extending personal greetings to their old neighbor and friend.

Many other oldtimers of the Vulcan district called during the afternoon and evening.

The house was filled with flowers from Ben Graham's own garden. The tea table was centred with a two-tiered birthday cake, which was decorated in pink and white, and topped with a huge '90'.

Also celebrating his second birthday was little Murray Market, grandson of Ben, who lives in the district.

Cassie and Louise Graham, granddaughters of Ben assisted their mother in serving refreshments to the guests.

Swathing Now In Full Swing

After a week-end delay occasioned by heavy rains throughout the district, swathing of wheat was again under way on Monday, with the weather both Monday and Tuesday being clear and warm. A forecast rainstorm Wednesday noon did not materialize.

Swathing should be well advanced by this week-end, although fields that were late-seeded due to their wet condition last spring will require another week or two of warm weather before they can be cut.

Most wheat received at local elevators so far is grading 2 North-eastern.

Mrs. R. L. King Dies at Camrose

Vulcan friends will regret to learn of the death at Camrose on August 30 of Mrs. Rae L. King, wife of the editor of the Camrose Canadian and sister of Mrs. F. M. Anderson of Vulcan. The Kings were frequent visitors in Vulcan before the war, when Mr. King operated the Claresholm paper.

Mrs. King, who has been ill for some time, suffered a second stroke last week and Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were called to Camrose at that time. Funeral services were held in Camrose on Monday.

Simingtons Will Live in Calgary

Prior to her departure for Calgary, where she will in future reside, Mrs. R. W. Simington was honored on two occasions. Members of Ferrisdale Chapter O.E.S. entertained at the tea hour at the home of Miss Lynette Parslow Friday afternoon, August 21st, and Mrs. W. S. Hill, on behalf of the Chapter presented the honored guest with a beautiful set of crystal bedroom lamps, and expressed the regret of all at Mrs. Simington's departure. A number of members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion met at the home of Mrs. A. Sales on Wednesday afternoon last to again honor this oldtimer of Vulcan. A pleasant social hour was enjoyed after which the ladies served a dainty tea. Mrs. Jack Marshall on behalf of the Auxiliary branch extended the best wishes of her many friends to the guest of honor and regret in losing her. She then presented Mrs. Simington with a lovely cup and saucer.

Mr. and Mrs. Simington left Thursday to make their home in Calgary. Active in church, lodge and Legion work, as well as serving the public for many years in the grocery and meat business, the Simingtons leave a host of friends who will miss them greatly. They have resided in Vulcan for the past thirty-five years. Mr. and Mrs. Ross McIntyre have purchased the Simington home, and will shortly move into town with their daughters, Myrna and Shirley.

Regular Meeting Good Deeds W.I.

Good Deeds W. I. met at the home of Mrs. R. I. Montgomery, Thursday, August 14. Threatening weather kept the attendance down but the meeting was none-the-less enjoyable. Mrs. Montgomery put on a guessing contest, won by Mrs. Robert Irwin.

The members decided to continue with the making of talent money. If any of the members would like to know the particulars they may contact the president or secretary.

A half-minute talk on Alberta Industries was interesting. Mrs. S. White and Mrs. Robert Irwin assisted with lunch.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. E. Andrews, September 11.

Extreme difficulty of getting ducks out of a field after they have fed there for a few days. Installation of frightening devices should begin immediately upon the start of swathing or stooking operations and they should be moved every two or three days. The pamphlet points out that farmers should keep a close watch at daybreak and dusk to determine when and if waterfowl are going to feed in a field.

Will of your own is more likely to help you succeed than the will of a rich relative.

Special Permits No Longer Needed

Farmers Given General Duck Shooting Permit

Broader shooting regulations to help Alberta farmers combat damage to crops by ducks was announced Saturday by E. S. Huestis Provincial Fish and Game Commissioner.

Mr. Huestis said the Federal Resources Department has issued a permit covering the period August 30 to September 9 authorizing Alberta farmers south of the Athabasca River to kill mallard or pintail ducks which they find are causing serious damage to their crops.

Where the farmer is unable by himself to prevent crop damage by these ducks he may authorize not more than seven Alberta residents to shoot them on his land.

Effect of the new regulations is that farmers can go ahead and shoot grain-damaging ducks or get help to kill them off without first getting a permit from the provincial government. Until August 30 individual permits were issued to farmers on applications. But Mr. Huestis said the number of applications from farmers for individual permits was so great that it was found necessary to issue the general permit. He reported a 75 per cent increase in ducks returning from the south in the last two years.

Damage by ducks to crops has been fairly general in Alberta this year. It has been particularly heavy between Lethbridge and Calgary.

Ducks may not be killed outside the area where the damage is being done.

The permission of the farmer to hunters he calls in must be in writing and show the land on which it applies. Those persons receiving written permission must carry this authority while shooting on the land and while transporting the ducks.

Shooting may be carried on at any hour but the hunter cannot use any decoy, duck call or blind

Schools To Open Monday, Sept. 15

A change in the opening date of County of Vulcan schools was announced last Friday with the opening being delayed until Monday, September 15th because of the polio outbreak.

Leg Smashed In Farm Accident

Stanley Munton, farmer of the Champion district, was the victim of a farming accident Tuesday morning and one leg was badly broken and lacerated as a result.

According to reports, the cuff of Mr. Munton's pant-leg caught in the power-take-off of his tractor and before he could be freed the leg was badly injured.

He was rushed to the Vulcan hospital and attended by Dr. W. W. Almond and Dr. A. D. Tompkins and is now in a Calgary hospital receiving further treatment.

and cannot discharge a gun while within 50 yards of any water area. Dogs may be used.

Farmers are required to report to the fish and game commissioner the names and addresses of persons to whom he has given written authorization to shoot on his land and he must specify the location of the land.

Mr. Huestis warned that the general permit was issued for the purpose of protecting farmers' crops from ducks and not for the purpose of shooting alone. Persons not abiding by the regulations will be subject to prosecution.

After Harvest Tillage and Weed Control

The following information was recently received at this office from the Dominion Experimental Station at Lethbridge.

The after-harvest tillage of crop lands has proven to be useful in the control of Russian thistle, particularly if carried on for several consecutive seasons. A certain amount of control for other weeds can also be expected from such a procedure.

The effect of after-harvest tillage on subsequent grain crops has been under test at the Lethbridge Experimental Station for a number of years. Blading, one-way disking, and basin listing have been the after-harvest practices compared to no tillage treatment. The 12 year average yield of crops grown on untreated stubble fields has been 14.3 bushels per acre. This compares with an average yield of 15.7 bushels per acre from crops grown on stubble bladed the previous fall. Yields for the other treatments did not differ greatly from that obtained on untreated stubbles.

There are two possible reasons for the yield differences obtained. Namely the control of weeds and increased moisture conservation. Since both the blading and one-way disking have resulted in a comparable measure of weed control it is thought that the yield difference is due mostly to superior moisture conservation effected by blading, which retains a good, well anchored trash cover on the soil surface. Doubtless the blading opens up the soil, as does the one-way disking, which allows for a possible increased intake of moisture, but in addition, the standing stubble on the bladed fields is able to hold more of the winter snow.

For the most effective working of stubble, the job should be done as soon as possible after the crop is removed. This statement applies particularly to the control of Russian thistle by fall cultivation. If fields are bladed immediately after harvest the production of seed by the thistle plants present can be reduced by as much as 75 to 100 per cent.

Fall tillage of crop stubble is a worthwhile practice if such stubbles are to be seeded the following year. The use of a blade type implement has proven best for this purpose, and the job should be done as soon as possible after the crop has been removed.

Suggests Methods Scaring Ducks

Suggestions to aid western grain growers in their efforts to prevent crop damage by migratory waterfowl are contained in a pamphlet, "Prevent Duck Damage," published by the Canadian Wildlife Service, Department of Resources and Development and distributed this month through the provincial game authorities of the four western provinces. The pamphlet

Plan Evangelistic Campaign, Vulcan

Arrangements are being made for a special evangelistic campaign to be held in the Vulcan Church of Christ, under the direction of Ed Benoit. This special series of meetings will last for three weeks commencing Sunday, October 5th.

Mr. Benoit is a graduate of the Alberta Bible College, having spent a number of years in the ministry. He has recently been appointed Special Lecturer and Field Evangelist with the College. He is known for his dynamic preaching and fundamental teaching. He attracts large audiences where ever he goes.

The Church of Christ has made some considerable progress since its last special evangelistic meeting six years ago, and looks with anticipation toward further successes as a result of the forthcoming Benoit campaign.

gives detailed instructions for the construction of several effective and inexpensive devices for scaring ducks from grain fields.

Used with considerable success in the United States, these methods for scaring waterfowl range from straw-stuffed scarecrows to the more expensive spirolool whirlers, which is used in gasoline stations and roadside stands to attract public attention. Even ordinary white paper bags or balloons are suggested in the pamphlet as a frightening device. Any slight breeze causes them to bounce or swing in a manner highly disturbing to the ducks. Emphasis is placed on the ex-

THOSE CONVENTIONS

Every year members of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association representing weeklies located in communities from Vancouver Island to Newfoundland and from the Yukon to Southern Ontario gather in convention. At these conferences the newspaper men and women discuss mutual problems and ways and means of improving their weeklies that they may better serve their respective communities.

This year the C.W.N.A. convention is being held during the first week in September at beautiful St. Andrews by the Sea, in New Brunswick.

When newspaper people gather at a convention they spend their time between formal sessions and entertainment in "shop talk". They exchange ideas, learn how others solve problems similar to theirs, find out new ways of doing things, discover short cuts which help to keep in line rising costs of production... in general they spend much of the convention time in gleaming ideas which will help them do a better job in their respective communities.

Turning out a creditable weekly newspaper is a complicated process. Thus C.W.N.A. members find plenty to talk about.

They discuss, among other things, advertising, both national and local, layouts, news and editorial writing, subscriptions, district news gathering, the use of pictures and other features, the development of classifieds, training of apprentices, care of typesetting and printing machinery, and, well, the list could go on.

Weekly newspaper men at convention time welcome representatives of the railways, advertising agencies, nation-wide companies, supply and machinery houses, federal and provincial governments and so forth. Over the years these people have proved themselves to be good friends of C.W.N.A. and of the more than 500 newspapers which make up its membership.

At such conventions as that at St. Andrews by the Sea at least one speaker is bound to refer to the good job being done by the weeklies in serving the "grass roots" people of Canada, the people of the smaller communities. That always causes weekly newspaper people to chuckle for they know that the people who live on the farms and in the small towns are just as up to date in their thinking and ways of doing things as their city cousins.

Yet there is an element of truth in that "grass roots" expression, too, for rural people do seem to be more sane, more balanced, more conscientious and certainly more neighborly than many who live in the big cities of Canada.

Gradually through the years out of C.W.N.A. gatherings have evolved weekly newspapers vastly better than those of even a few decades ago, newspapers of which the communities they serve may well be proud. That there is still room for improvement in the average weekly, no one knows better than the men and women who are striving week in and week out to improve the papers they are producing. That's why the C.W.N.A. holds conventions.

WILD DUCK NUISANCE

The fact is that wild ducks have become a nuisance, a very costly nuisance. If the grain is swathed in seasons when ducks are plentiful as they are this season, it is an open invitation to hungry ducks to swoop down and beat the daylight out of the heads so nicely arranged in the swaths for them. It isn't what the ducks eat that angers the farmers; it's the bushels which they shell out of the heads on to the ground where the combines cannot pick it up. A visitation of ducks such as we have this season may ruin 50 acres of swathed wheat in a few days' feeding. And 50 acres of wheat, a thousand to 1,500 bushels, are worth $1,500 to $2,000.

We do not know what the answer is. But we do know it is not the answer of the officials of the game branch of the Alberta Government—to put up scare-crows, to go out and fire a gun off to scare the birds out of a field but don't dare kill any of them. We suggest that some farmer hire one of these officials to guard a half-section of swathed wheat and keep all the ducks off, especially if the field is anywhere near a lake where the ducks rest during the hot mid-day hours. We know what the answer would be.

It would seem to us that fish and game enthusiasts and game branch officials should work with the farmers to prevent the heavy grain losses they have had to take the past couple of seasons. Certainly an open season starting with the harvest should be considered in relation to the number of locally raised wild ducks and the earliness of the harvest. We're not going to suggest that farmers ought to take the law into their own hands. But their desperation must be a great temptation.

TEXACO
MOTOR OIL*INSULATED
AGAINST—HEAT...AND REGULAR PRICED!

On these hot summer days hard-working farm machinery is up against a real heat problem—with crankcase temperatures, for example, up around 240°. That's why many farmers turn to Texaco Motor Oil—insulated against heat!

Texaco Motor Oil is insulated against heat by an exclusive Texaco process. It stands up under high engine-operating temperatures and resists the formation of varnish-like deposits that steal power and waste gasoline.

Texaco Motor Oil in tractor, truck and car engines gives you more power, greater fuel economy and fewer repairs. And remember—you get lower operating costs along with this better engine performance, because Texaco Motor Oil is regular-priced!

Milo News

Births, deaths, visits, robberies and accidents all go into the make-up of the Milo news this week so it should be interesting to someone at least.

First we will deal with the most pleasant of the topics, that concerning the births.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Shield announce the birth of a 6 pound 12 ounce baby girl Linda Marie, on August 27 at the Vulcan hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Mackie of Vancouver, Washington, also are proud of their new daughter, Linda Kathleen. Mrs. Mackie is the former Nellie Bosisto of Milo.

Now we come to the deaths of residents of this community and we find that Tom Beckner killed a chicken on Saturday only to find to his astonishment and his children's as well that the deceased bird should have been dead anyway as it had a regular sized marble in its gizzard.

Why is it do you suppose that whenever anyone wants to break and enter with the intent of removing property not belonging to them that they always seem to pick on Bob Bertrand? Do you suppose that it is his kindly, benign countenance that inspires such trust in the hearts of would be and real robbers? Anyway, to use the vernacular he has "got it again". Another series of thefts has been carried out in this district. The thieves apparently started out by robbing the store at Mossleigh and continuing down the highway to Queenstown, on to Milo and ending up at Vulcan. They were primarily interested in guns it would appear because both Ernie Heathers store at Queenstown and the Phillips hardware in Milo had several hundred dollars worth of shotguns and rifles taken.

Eob Bertrands, Milo Motors Service garage was broken into but apparently they could not find too much to suit them because his losses were relatively small when compared to the others. Some establishments in Vulcan were robbed also but accounts of that will appear elsewhere in the paper.

For a small town, Milo certainly seems to have more than its share of vagrancies and thefts.

A very nasty accident occurred last week when a 1951 Pontiac coach car, driven and owned by Lawrence Smith, left the road and was badly smashed. The car failed to make one of the many turns on the road, crossed a deep ditch, went through the fence and came to rest facing the road once more. The back window was laying at some distance from the wreck but was not even chipped. The windshield in front of the steering wheel was completely shattered and the other one was taken right out. The door on the left side was crumpled like paper but the steering wheel appeared to be untouched. Miracle that it is Mr. Smith came out of the car alive and with no serious injuries, although he was taken to the hospital in Vulcan for X-rays and confined there for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Burk and Mr. Delos Burk were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Umschied for a few days last week. Also a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Umschied is Mrs. Mary Hoerle of the McKillop old Hoerle plan son spending a few folks home of Calgary. Mrs. Hoerle plans on spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Burk, and then visiting with her brother Mr. Steve Williams of Cluny.

Several members of this community have been spending time in various hospitals during the past week. Mrs. Sid Page is confined in the General hospital in Calgary under the doctors observation. Mrs. Lorraine Uland spent several days last week in the Vulcan hospital where she underwent a minor surgery. Also in the Vulcan hospital was Barbara Shield who was taking treatments on her back which she injured when she fell from a horse.

A childhood friend of Mrs. Lil Peterson, Mrs. Dando of Calgary has been visiting with her for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Soli and family called at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Phillips for a brief call after bringing Grandma Soli down from Calgary after her release from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowan of Calgary are spending some time with their daughter Mrs. Norman McCord.

Mrs. Wilbur Monner has her sister Eleanor and two nieces, Shirley and Gail staying with her for part of their holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis of Lethbridge called on the former's sister Mrs. Gordon Ivers, as they were on their way to Banff.

Miss Fern Williams of Shoultice is spending some time with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Jim Page of Milo.

Mrs. Gordon Ivers had a Stanley tea last week put on by Bea Findlay of Picture Butte. Eighteen ladies were present and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent.

A church board meeting was held on Saturday night to discuss the advisability of allowing the use of the church as a classroom until the new school is finished enough to accommodate the increased enrollment this year. After much discussion it was decided to allow the use of the church for the grades seven and eight. Two basement rooms in the new building are to be completed in the very near future and this class will then be moved to them.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Beckner had a dinner party on Sunday by way of celebrating their twelfth wedding anniversary. To whom does it seem the longest, folks?

Mr. Ronald White of Mission City, B. C., is visiting with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Goldthorpe.

Baxter of Brooks certainly seems to be doing a landslide business in this community at the present time. He is constructor of large sheds and buildings of various kinds finished with aluminum roofs. Several have been put up on both sides of town and they certainly are bright spots in the district as you can see them shine in the sun clear across Snake Valley.

Harvest operations this past week have been held up because of the rain but are going forward again now. Nearly all the barley has been picked up and a great deal of the wheat has been swathed. It is certainly to be hoped that there isn't too much rain to hold up operations or no one will have to worry about harvesting at all as the ducks will do it for them.

Wheat Stem Sawfly Investigations

Wheat stem sawfly investigations are an important phase of the research carried out at the Cereal Breeding Laboratory at Lethbridge. This includes the breeding of sawfly-resistant wheats as well as fundamental research on both the sawfly and host plant.

The most important part of the work is the production of varieties possessing sawfly resistance in addition to good agronomic characteristics. New hybrids are produced each year and are tested for sawfly reaction at several locations in Alberta and Saskatchewan. From these tests it is possible to determine the resistance of lines over a wide area. Only the highly resistant hybrids are retained for further examination. This includes testing for yield, milling and baking quality, and certain disease reactions.

Chinook, a new sawfly-resistant variety developed at the Swift Current and Lethbridge Experimental Stations, was licensed this spring. It possesses better quality characteristics than Rescue but it is slightly less resistant to sawfly damage. Even the resistance of Rescue breaks down when certain unfavourable conditions are present. Thus, the plant breeders must strive to produce a hybrid with even greater resistance than that possessed by either variety.

A number of research workers are combining their efforts in order to solve the sawfly problem. Plant breeders, entomologists, plant physiologists, and chemists play an important part in this endeavour. Studies of the nutrition, life habit and races of sawflies are underway. Tests of the effect of different environments on the host plant and studies on the sawfly itself are important in determining the fundamental nature of resistance. Cytogenetic investigations are being pursued, particularly with solid-stem wheats. When these studies are completed the information will be valuable in the development of a breeding program which will result in even better varieties.

Winter Wheat Varieties

Seeding of winter wheat will soon begin in southern Alberta. The most satisfactory time for planting this crop is during the first two weeks of September. This is usually early enough to ensure sufficient fall growth and late enough to escape excessive damage from root-rot. All seed should be treated before planting to control seed-borne disease such as bunt (stinking smut).

The best available variety of winter wheat for southern Alberta is Kharkov M.C. 22, except in the extreme south-east part of the province, where Yogo is better adapted. Two other varieties, Jones Fife and Turkey Red, are still grown to some extent but are not recommended.

Kharkov M.C. 22 is the most winter hardy variety available. This is a very important characteristic since winter killing is probably the greatest hazard facing the fall wheat crop in southern Alberta. In comparative tests no other adapted variety has exceeded Kharkov M.C. 22 in yield. In straw strength it is better than Yogo and about equal to Jones Fife, although it may lodge badly under conditions of high moisture. It is somewhat less resistant to shattering than Yogo but is much more resistant than Jones Fife. Kharkov is a hard red type eligible for Alberta red winter grades and, although not of the same quality as hard red spring wheat, it produces flour suitable for bread making.

Yogo is a hard red winter wheat which is practically equal to Kharkov M.C. 22 in winter hardiness, yield and quality. It is superior to Kharkov in resistance to shattering but since it is somewhat weak in the straw it has a greater tendency to lodge. Yogo is resistant to bunt, a characteristic not possessed by the other fall wheat varieties grown in Alberta. This variety appears to be best adapted to the drier, southeastern part of Alberta where its slightly weak straw is not a serious limitation, and where its resistance to shattering and to bunt is important.

Jones Fife is preferred by some farmers because of its lack of beards but it cannot be considered a desirable variety for southern Alberta. It may yield well if it survives the winter but it is definitely less winter hardy than Kharkov and Yogo and therefore is a much more risky variety to grow. It is also undesirable in quality as a bread wheat and thus may be degraded.

As a general rule farmers in all winter wheat areas of Alberta except the extreme southeast stand a better chance of harvesting a winter wheat crop with Kharkov M.C. 22 than if they seed any other variety. In the southeastern corner of the province Yogo will usually give the best returns.

Storing Grain On the Farm

By H. G. L. Strange

Farmers will store a good deal of grain on their farms for some considerable time before it can be hauled to country elevators for sale. The following advice is tendered by Dr. H. E. Gray, head of the Stored Products Insect Investigations, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa:

A granary with a wooden floor above the ground is best for farm storage, and several small granaries are better than a large one for long-term storage. If "tough" damp, weed-infested grain must be stored, keep it in small bins and market it first. Carry out the following procedure:

1. Repair leaky roofs, window, and doors to exclude rain and snow. If the granary floor is of concrete, cover it with moisture-proof paper.

2. Clean walls and floor thoroughly. Sprinkle a little hydrated lime over the floor and sweep it about to fill all cracks.

3. If insects or mites were present last year, coat the inside walls with whitewash containing one-quarter of a pound of lye per gallon.

4. Fill the granary to the plate only. Ample space between the grain surface and the roof must be provided for ventilation.

5. Open bins or piles are risky. If available, place on well drained ground or two or three feet of straw. Piles should be uniform cones.
